QUESTION OF PEACE OR WAR WILL BE SETTLED FOR GOOD AT CONFERENCE TOMORROW

ENVOYS ARE NOW AWAITING ARRIVAL OF COURIER FROM
SULTAN AT CONSTANTINOPLE

GREEK TROOPS TODAY EVACU-ATED ISLAND OF TENEDOS AND SOLDIERS HAVE BEEN TAKEN ON THE WARSHIPS.

LONDON, Dec. 20—The Turkish-Balkan peace conference is simply marking time today while the Turkish envoys are awaiting the arrival of a special courier dispatched from Constantinople with instructions from the sultan.

The crisis is expected to be reached tomorrow and at that time
it will be decided whether the present deadlock will be broken, or whether orders will be issued for hostilities to be resumed.

Greeks Evacuate Island—
CONSTANTINOPLE, Dec. 20—The Greek troops today evacuated the island of Tenedos, near Dardanelles,
and the soldiers have been taken on board the warships in the Greek fleet.

HALIFAX LODGE NO. 81
F. & A. M. ELECTS OFFICERS

ALSO HAD WORK IN THE FEL-
LOWCRAFT DEGREE FOL-LOWED BY SOCIAL SESSION
AND REFRESHMENTS.

Halifax Lodge, No. 81, F. & A. M., held annual election of officers at the regular meeting, Thursday evening at Masonic hall on Orange avenue.

There was also work in the Fellowcraft degree and following the election and degree work refreshments were served and a pleasant
social session enjoyed.

The officers elected for the ensuing year are as follows:

Joseph Osborne, worshipful master.
I. J. Price, senior warden.
D. H. Rutter, junior warden.
G. F. Smith, treasurer.
A. H. Carter, secretary.
James Carnell, trustee for three years.

Installation of officers will be held on the evening of St. Johns day, December 27.

NOTED DESPERADO HUNTER
KILLS HIMSELF IN JAIL.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Dec. 20—
Deputy Sheriff Henry Cole, slayer of 11 men, committed suicide by taking morphine in the county jail
here early this morning. He had been sentenced to serve ten years
in the state penitentiary for the murder of Irving Cobb 20 years ago.
He was a noted desperado hunter.

"RAT" JONES IS BOUND OVER
FOR ASSAULT AND BATTERY

THIS ACTION RELIEVES THE NE-CESSITY OF THE CITY EMPLOY-ING GUARD FOR ONE MAN ON STREETS.

To relieve the city from the necessity of employing a guard to look after one prisoner working on the streets, "Rat" Jones, the negro who was sentenced to serve 60 days on the streets, in the mayor's court was taken before Justice Zuber yesterday
and bound over to the criminal
court on a charge of assault and battery. Bond was fixed at $150.

The trouble in which Jones was mixed up took place last Saturday night and was the result, it is alleged, of evidence given by another
negro, Williams, in a recent case
involving illegal sale of liquor.

HANDSOME YACHT OSPREY II
ARRIVES FROM NEW YORK.

C. R. Runyon's handsome yacht, Osprey II, arrived here from the north Wednesday afternoon, and
tied up at the Halifax River Yacht club wharf. The Osprey II
is in command of Capt. W. Leon Vann of this city who has with him on the yacht, his son, Walter.
Mr. Runyon will not be down until late in the season, but his brother
will come south on his wedding trip
and will cruise southward with his bride on the yacht which at the completion of the cruise will return to Daytona, making this city headquarters. Capt. Vann and his son have many friends in this city and vicinity
to welcome their arrival.

PRESIDENT MELLEN DEFENDS POLICY OF NEW HAVEN ROAD

SAYS MANAGEMENT HAS BEEN MISREPRESENTED AND THAT STEAMSHIP LINES ARE USED
ONLY FOR FEEDERS.

BOSTON, Dec. 20—President Mel-
len of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad today issued a statement defending the policies of the railroad and bitterly assailing
his critics.

President Mellen declares the management of the railroad has been grossly misrepresented and denied vigorously the alleged attempt to buy up all the traction properties
in New England. He says the steamship lines acquired by the road
do not pay, but are used merely as feeders for the railroad.

THE DAILY MARKET REPORT.

NEW YORK, Dec. 20—Stocks opened strong today with Union Pacific
leading the advance with a gain of 2½. Later the market began to react. Cotton was barely steady with January quoted at $12.85 and May at $12.83.

The Chicago Markets—
CHICAGO, Dec. 20—December
wheat, $5 3-4c; May pork, $18.20;
lard, $9.95; ribs, $9.75; hogs five
higher and cattle strong.

CHICAGO WOMEN OFFERING
EGGS AT 24 CENTS A DOZEN

PLACE 1,000,000 COLD STORAGE
EGGS ON SALE IN EFFORT TO FORCE PRICE DOWN FROM 45c DOZEN.

CHICAGO, Dec. 20—A total of 1,000,000 cold storage eggs were offered for sale today at 30 different stores by club women of Chicago in an effort to force down the price of eggs in this city. The cold storage
eggs offered for sale by the women
today were sold at 24 cents per dozen.
The dealers here have been demanding 45 cents per dozen.

THREE KILLED BY GAS IN BOSTON BOARDING HOUSE.

BOSTON, Mass., Dec. 20—John
Riley and Mrs. Alice Dean, a widow, and an unidentified man were asphyxiated in a boarding house in this city early today.

The Brussie Sisters, in their little playlet at the Crystal theater last evening, scored a big hit with the large audience. The little folks are clever actors and the novel little sketch presented was highly entertaining to the patrons of the photoplay house. In a change of program
the Brussie Sisters will appear at the Crystal again tonight, tomorrow
afternoon matinee and tomorrow
night.

ESCAPED CONVICT IS CAPTURED

WILL SANDERS CAUGHT AT HASTINGS AND RETURNED

COLORED PRISONER WHO GOT AWAY FROM CAMP AT KING-STON BROUGHT BACK TO ROAD
GANG.

Will Sanders, the colored convict
who made his escape from the camp at Kingston last week, was caught at Hastings and is now back
at his old job with the county road
gang.

The black made his way as far north as Hastings by keeping to the woods most of the time, but
was apprehended by the officers at
that town and the Volusia county
authorities were notified of the capture.

Sanders was sent up at the last
term of the criminal court for one year on a charge of grand larceny.
Last week Thursday he complained
of being ill in the afternoon and was left at the camp in charge of the cook when the gang was taken out for the afternoon's work. He made a getaway from the cook and
started north, being trailed as far as the Tomoka river, where track of him was lost.

NUMBER OF INTERESTING
NEWSPAPERS AT LIBRARY

The Daytona public library has recently received a bundle of interesting newspapers printed in other countries and have placed them on
the tables in the reading room for use of the public.

Mrs. Abbott, the librarian, will be absent from her post for a few weeks and Miss Ashley will take her place.

The subscriptions are increasing weekly and the new books are quite an attraction.

The reading room is free to all
and is well supplied with periodicals.

COTTON REPORT SHOWS
12,424,853 BALES GINNED.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20—The government cotton report shows 12,424-853 bales ginned of the 1912 growth
up to December 13, as against 13-770,727 bales last year. The Sea
Island shows 58,584 bales against 98-035 last year.

RETURN OF AMBASSADOR
IS CAUSING EXCITEMENT

REBELS ARE REPORTED TO HAVE BURNED TWO TOWNS
AND DISORDERS MUST CEASE
AT ONCE.

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 20—News
from Washington of the hurried return of the American ambassador to Mexico with a demand for the prompt suppression of disorders in Mexico, has caused great excitement
in the capital here. This is considered a virtual ultimatum from the United States.

Reports have just been received here that the rebels have burned two
more towns in the state of Morelos.

GAS SERVICE WILL BE INAUGURATED JANUARY 1

ENGINEER SAYS COMPANY WILL BE READY TO SUPPLY
PATRONS BY THE FIRST OF
THE YEAR.

F. A. Woodhead, engineer in charge of construction of the new gas plant, says that barring some unforeseen delay gas will be furnished
to patrons by the first of the new year. The gas is even now available
but it was thought best to await the arrival of the purifiers before giving it to the public and these are daily expected.

The laying of conduit pipe is almost completed, so far as that on hand is concerned, 15,000 feet of four-inch pipe having been put in,
but Mr. Woodhead says it will take twice this amount to complete the work necessary to cover the territory.

THE TRIM YACHT NATOYA ON CRUISE TO SOUTHERN POINTS.

The trim looking yacht Natoya,
of the New Rochelle yacht club, arrived here Wednesday afternoon and joined the fleet of boats now gathered at the Halifax River Yacht club wharves. On board the Natoya
is her owner and captain, R. M.
Haddock and wife, who are on a cruise to Miami and other points
south for the winter. Capt. and Mrs. Haddock left New York about the first of October and have made a leisurely journey southward. The Natoya will remain at this place for a few days and will stop again in April on the return north. Capt.
and Mrs. Haddock were south last winter in the Natoya and stopped
here on their way north sometime in March.

CLAIMS THE TURKISH THRONE

"Princess" Eugenie Paleologo, who resides in West Kensington, England, has documents in her possession which she says prove her descent from the Byzantine emperors who reigned in Constantinople before it was captured by Mohammed IV., and so she lays claim to the Turkish throne. The real name of the "princess" is Mrs. Edmund Wickham, and she is the widow of an English colonel. Her claims are ridiculed by genealogical authorities, who assert that the imperial family of Paleologo has been extinct for many centuries.

Competition.
"You still assert that competition is the life of trade?"
"Oh, yes," said Mr. Dustin Stax. "But we don't care to compete for a chance to sell our goods. What we want is to find people with their money out competing for the privilege of buying them."

Practical Suggestion.
A new association proposes to have all American railroads lined with flowers and hedges, but what our railroad rights of way really need is to be lined with feather beds. What good would it do anybody to fall on a palsy when trains collide?

Always Original.
There are two words in the English language that, no matter how often they are used, never lose their freshness, originality and charm. One is "sweetheart" and the other is "damn!"—From "The Bramble Bush," by Caroline Fuller.

Italics.
Italics were first used about A. D. 1500 by Manutius, a Venetian printer, who dedicated them to the Italian states. Hence the name. The first book set up in italics was an edition of Vergil printed at Venice by Aldus in 1501. A copy of this rare book is preserved in the British museum.

A Christmas musical consisting of solos, duets and choruses will be given
 at the Little Baptist mission Sunday, Dec. 22, at 3:00 p. m. Miss Albin
 Walker, who visited the Holy Land in 1905, will give some of her impressions of the birth place of Christ.
 Rev. A. L. Abercrombie will preach a short sermon. On Monday evening,
 at 7:00, a Christmas tree will be decorated with presents for the children
 of the Sunday school in the mission
 Sunday school room.

W. H. Manning and Mr. Putnam's
 chauffeur went up to Jacksonville
 Monday afternoon and returned Tuesday afternoon, driving Mr. Putnam's beautiful new 7-passenger Hudson,
 which they drove through without a scratch.

Mrs. E. L. Potter and little daughter, Helen, and maid, Mary, arrived
 Thursday from New York and joined
 Mr. Potter at their Ocean boulevard residence. The party came down in company with Mrs. Raymond Keeney, daughter of J. B. Moore, who owns a winter residence on Ridgewood avenue, Daytona.

The Clarendon saddle horses arrived from the White mountains the latter part of last week. They are a fine selection and no doubt horseback riding will prove to be one of the most popular recreations for the guests of the big hotel.

At a recent meeting in C. F.
 Burgman's office in Wilman's opera house, a local board of insurance for Seabreeze and Daytona Beach was organized, of which C. A. Kenney
 was elected president and C. F. Burg-
 man secretary.

Money is being subscribed by the residents of Ocean boulevard to have electric lights installed on their street, beginning January 1, 1913, to May 1, 1913.

A congenial party consisting of R.
 T. Butler and sister, Miss Butler,
 and their Cincinnati friends, Mr. and Mrs. Collins and Mrs. Lapham, enjoyed a day's outing Saturday, in a carriage drive which included a vis-
 it to Munroe & Stevens orange grove,
 the old sugar mills, Port Orange,
 Ponce Park and a drive on the beach

back to Seabreeze. The company had an elegant picnic dinner at the old sugar mills.

J. E. Williams had on display in one of his show windows, Wednesday,
 a large watermelon raised by Dick Lyle on his fruit farm in Holy Hill.

A. N. Fleming, foreman on building
 Mrs. A. W. Powers' handsome home
 on Glenview boulevard, is pushing
 the work in a very satisfactory way.
 The building will be ready for lat-hing this week. Mrs. Powers' numerous friends at the Princess Isenna are frequent visitors to the grounds, and
 her plans are receiving a liberal
 amount of favorable criticism.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Hatch and children arrived Friday night from Ypsilanti, Mich., to spend the winter
 in their home on Halifax avenue,
 north.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Sweet and
 Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fletcher, of Ypsilanti, Mich., friends of Mr. and Mrs.
 Hatch, have taken Mrs. Florence
 Johnson's cottage on the river front
 for the season. They expect to be here shortly after the Christmas holidays. Mrs. Johnson has reserved
 rooms for herself in her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Randall and daughter, Miss Ruth, of Benton Harbor, Mich., will arrive January 1, to spend the remainder of the winter
 in this city, on a visit to his brother,
 A. S. Randall and family.

News comes of the serious illness
 of Mrs. John Bronson at her home in St. Louis, Mo., and that her parents,
 Mr. and Mrs. John Bianchi, are with her.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. L. Farrell and lovely daughter, Miss Margaret Farrell, and Mrs. McGregor, arrived this week and are at their winter home
 on the Halifax for the season.

Mrs. Harrison Loring and Misses
 Helen and L. M. Gardner of Boston, Mass., Miss Katharine B. Horr, of Philadelphia, and Mrs. Edwin Young,
 of New York City, are guests at the Geneva.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter G. Gamble
 and daughter, May, arrived Wednesday from St. Augustine, driving through in their car, and are at their home on the Halifax. Miss Margaret Gamble, their oldest daughter, has entered Stetson University, DeLand.

Mrs. Edith Ruby arrived from Ypsilanti, Mich., recently to spend the winter in Seabreeze. Before going north last spring Mrs. Ruby purchased a small cottage on Ora street,
 which she improved and has leased
 for the winter.

Master Robert Hatch celebrated
 his sixth birthday Wednesday at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W.
 B. Hatch, on Halifax avenue. He enjoyed his big birthday cake with its
 six candles and a number of beautiful presents contributed in the family,

 but was denied the jollification of a
 "real party" on account of a severe
 ear ache from which the little fellow suffered all Tuesday night.

Miss Charlotte Gordon and Miss Gladys Lathers, students in the state normal college in Michigan, are spending the winter in Seabreeze.

Miss H. Ronker is expected to arrive Friday from Philadelphia, Pa.,
 to spend some time with her sister,
 Mrs. Branchhold and family, on Halifax avenue.

Miss S. E. Russell arrived Friday night from Windon, Ga., and joined her sister, Mrs. McCullough, at the Glenwood. Miss Russell was accompanied by her niece, Miss Mary Russell, who spent a season at Sea-
 breeze eight years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lowell and daughter, Miss E. Lowell, arrived Friday from Amesbury, Mass., and
 are domiciled for the season in their cottage home on Halifax avenue, north. They came by water from Boston to Jacksonville and had a rough voyage.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Abercrombie
 moved Wednesday from their home,
 which has been rented for the season, to apartments in Williams'
 block, Ocean boulevard, where she will open a dressmaking establishment.

Miss Helen Vandevorpe has charge
 of the art sales at J. Ralph Wilcox's
 art room in the Clark building, Daytona.

W. C. Hammett and family, who have been in Tampa for the past six months, are here again for the winter and are occupying apartments in Miss Kelley's beach house, Sunnyside.

Miss Leota Coburn entertained the high school class most delightfully Friday evening at her home on Halifax avenue. Twenty-five schoolmates including the popular teacher,
 Miss Brown, participated in the enjoyment of the evening.

Mrs. Coburn and daughter, Miss Leota, leave Saturday to join Mr. Coburn at Bainbridge, Ga., to spend their Christmas holidays with him in a tour of that state and Florida. They will spend Christmas day in Tallahassee and New Year in Tampa, taking, in all, a couple of weeks vacation.

Mr. Nason, who is with his family in the Wells' residence on Ocean
 boulevard for the season, drove up to St. Augustine in his car Monday.
 Not knowing the roads he found the
 trip rather rough on his car.

Merryday Brothers this week closed
 a deal with Kenney & Courtney
 for a lot on Atlantic avenue, south
 of the Weaver apartment house, and which belonged to Mrs. Sophia Com-proist. It is understood that the purchasers will erect a cottage on this property, which is just across the street from their handsome new hotel, Neptune.

The Leland house, recently purchased by Mrs. Gus L. Johnson, was leased this week to S. E. Harris,
 who is a guest at Princess Isenna.
 Mr. Harris' party will not arrive until January.

Dr. S. Z. Holland and Henry G.
 Wells, who last year purchased adjoining winter homes on Peninsula
 drive, north, have entered into a friendly competition in beautifying
 their new homes with choice shrub-berry and plants. The greater the rivalry the more pleasing the results
 will be to the community in general.

Judge Isaac Stewart motored over
 from the county seat Wednesday and was visiting Seabreeze friends for a couple of hours.

Mrs. M. J. Murphy and children
 will leave Saturday to spend the Christmas holidays in Palatka, and at Edgerfield, her country home at Orange Mills.

King Corn.

Corn, the gift of the new world to the old, is the king of grains. Each year some new use is found for it.
 Even after every grain, seemingly, has been extracted from it there is still
 a valuable residuum known as corn
 oil cake, which is sold here and abroad and is used in the fattening of sheep and other animals. Nearly 600,000 pounds of this material are annually shipped to Great Britain and Germany and there used by farmers,
 who find it cheaper than materials of
 a similar nature which they can grow
 at home.

STATE
HAPPENINGS
 News from Fair Florida Briefly Told

It is said to be definitely settled
 that Clearwater is soon to have a new hotel.

Strawberries are now being placed on the market in Orlando in large quantities. The price is 50 cents per quart.

A reading room association has been organized at DeLand with the object of opening a reading and rest
 room at some central location for
 use of the general public.

Trinity church in Miami will soon
 have placed upon its tower a chime
 of bells costing $4,000. Now if it has a large organ within, they will have musical investment rarely found in a town of that size.

Duck shooting is said to be furnishing fine sport to the residents and
 tourists in the vicinity of Panama City.
 It is estimated that more than 150
 bluebills were killed in one afternoon
 in less than two hours within two miles of the town.

A meeting of the citrus fruit growers of Florida will be held in the armory at Orlando tomorrow evening
 for the purpose of discussing the proposition of a fair and effective
 law to govern the citrus industry of the state.

G. W. Hinsey has just taken from his garden at Apalachicola two flat
 dutch turnips that take the premium.
 One turnip measures 22 inches in circumference and weighs 4 3/4 pounds.
 The second turnip measures 20 inches
 and weighs 4 1/2 pounds.

A serious fire in the Granada hotel
 in St. Augustine was narrowly averted by the presence of mind and hard work on the part of Manager
 Brooks, who rushed into the room
 where the blaze started and extinguished the fire without assistance.

It is reported that the Henderson-
 Waits Lumber company of Caryville
 will soon extend its log road to Vernon. The people of that section are hoping that the road will do a general transportation business. If it does it will do much to develop that section of the country.

A large catfish was recently caught
 at Green Cove Springs and when the fish was dressed a pen knife was found inside. The knife bore the name of "Thomason Knife Co., Conn." There is much speculation as to how the fish came to swallow the
 knife, but it is presumed the knife
 was used as a sucker on a fish line
 and was swallowed by the fish.

While taking Superintendent Hatt
 to Whittier in an automobile, R. L.
 Farmer killed a wild turkey just this side of Canoe creek. Mr. Farmer is evidently a splendid shot, for his weapon was a rifle and he shot the bird twice while it was flying. Incidentally he and Mr. Hale made a quick trip, leaving here at 8 o'clock in the morning, spending two hours and a half in Whittier, and arrived in St.
 Cloud again at 4:15.—St. Cloud Trib-

The machinery of the National Pulp and Turpentine Co. is arriving and W. M. Bashin, the manager, is putting it in place and hopes to have
 the plant in operation in a short time.
 The building of the plant has been slow because of the fact that all the machinery had to be manufactured
 from models furnished by the company. When in operation the National Pulp and Turpentine company will add greatly to the commercial importance of Green Cove Springs.—

'BLUFF' AMONG THE NEGROES

Little Story of a Quarrel That Illustrates Their Love of Flourish and Poses.

Love of bluff is a curious characteristic of the negro. Sometimes the deadly razor becomes active with a vengeance, but countless other times it is merely flourished with frightful threats and boasts of its slashing qualities. These are vanity poses.

One night recently I saw a striking living picture of this kind. I was one of a crowd which got off an early morning elevated train. A negro quarrel was in progress in front of a house on the opposite side of the street and all stopped to watch it. One husky black was about to apply an axe to the cranium of a smaller negro, when an ally of the lesser one threatened the husky individual with a blackjack from behind. Thus it stood—if the axe fell on one skull the blackjack would descend on another. Neither participant seemed willing to "start anything." There was the tableau and it simply died away like a moving picture climax on the screen.

Evidently this scene of inaction overtaxed the patience of the dusky spectators, for they broke the lull by tossing beer bottles at one another. This, too, was without ginger. Just as I stepped behind a telegraph pole to avoid the flying glass, an excited old darkey appeared at the door and fired a shotgun over the heads of the disputants.

A peaceful citizen next to me was taken to the hospital and I limped home with bird shot in my legs. The old man's bluff was effective and the careful blacks dispersed, seeking their beds to dream of flocks of chickens and trainloads of watermelons.

Old-Time Gardens.

In the dark ages a garden was only a patch of "simples" tended by a patient laborious monk. But the Italian garden of the day of Lorenzo de Medici had become all that the garden wisdom, skill and expenditure could make. A formal garden of the Villa Falconieri, more than five centuries old, is still considered the most beautiful and dignified ornamental garden in the world, a painter's and a poet's dream of cool, clear pools and stately cypresses. In Japan they go so far as to make every look one gets over walls or through windows a perfect picture.

"A Perfect Saw."

"To say nothing and saw wood," seems to me one of the most sagacious phrases passed down by our hard working forebears. Like most sayings which have emanated from manual labor, this is blunt, homely, and, to the loquaciously inclined, painfully accurate. Show me a man bent jack-knife-fashion over a saw-horse, with a short log under his buck, and I will point out a man who is minding his own business with admirable zeal. If he must speak, he ceases to saw. While he sews he is necessarily mute. Hence this shrewd phrase, which is, punning aside, a perfect saw.—Atlantic.

A Pennsylvania County's Oil Wells.

In McKean county whenever they want funds to run the county affairs they just put down an oil well on the county farm and up the money gushes. The South Penn. drilled a well last week that is doing five barrels a day after being given a shot of 80 quarts of nitroglycerin. A farm like that is a mighty convenient thing for a county to have.—Philadelphia Record.

Few Cities in India.

There are few cities in India. Its stupendous population consists of farm laborers. India is one vast farm—one almost interminable stretch of fields. It is a beautiful country—beautiful rivers, beautiful mountains. It is a land of abundant life. The jungles are full of animals, the air is alive with birds and fowls of almost all kinds, the waters are alive with fish. Vegetable life is abundant and varied.

New Life-Preserver.

A new life-preserver, which has been successfully tried, may be introduced into the German navy, writes the American consul from Brunswick. The apparatus, which weighs 5½ pounds, consists of two swimming cushions bound together by straps. The cushions lie upon the breast and back. The apparatus is provided with a small lamp fed by a battery.

Ended the Dry Spell.

She had a voice like a siren, and when she sang, "Mid play sure, sand palaces, the beam a rome. Be it averse oh wum bull there, snow play sly comb," and so on to the conclusion, there wasn't a dry eye in the room.

PLAYGROUND PARAGRAPHS.

Instinctive parental solicitude very rapidly wanes under the hard conditions of existence, and unless this can be fortified by far-reaching and powerful counteragents the child will continue to be subordinate to almost any degree. * * * The utility of the playgrounds in their broad relations will stand or fall upon the method of their administration.—Dr. Henry Baird Favill.

In childish play deep meaning lies.—Froebel.

Why have playgrounds? Why? Why does a flower need the light? The child needs a playground because his growth is through activity, which his nature has prescribed, and because he will never grow up or will grow up stunted and perverted if he is denied those opportunities and objects to which his vital instinctive and formative activities relate.—Joseph Lee.

Here lies the function of the playground. It gives the individual the opportunity for mastery of his body under conditions of increasing difficulties in its varied physical activities. It also gives the opportunity for the social experiences of democracy of self and group government. It is the school of physical and social self discovery and self direction.—Dr. Luther Halsey Gulick.

WHY THE STREETS SHOULD ALWAYS BE KEPT CLEAN

Treat the Town as We Would Our Own Bodies.

The demand for good street cleaning methods is usually predicated upon the supposed menace to health which exists where such methods are lacking. While in the dirt there are to be found the germs of about every known disease, nature has made ample provision for the resistance of the attack which these germs make upon the delicate membranes upon which they are caught when spread by the wind, and because people are not sickly when lax conditions of cleaning exist they are too liable to be satisfied with poor methods. It is better to have clean streets because we want to be clean, just as it is well to have a clean body on account of the refreshing feeling and elevating mental condition. Surroundings have so much to do with the formation of character and habits that the children at least are entitled to the good bringing up that cleanly conditions compel, and the less fortunate citizen who uses the street for recreation is entitled to the best possible service. The streets, after all, are but the hallways of the great municipal house, and municipal householders should find pleasure in keeping them as does the competent housewife.—American City.

HOME.

Home is the cornerstone of our government, the pillar of our civilization. When the masses learn that every time that a dollar is sent away from the home it injures it just so much, robs it of so much comfort, takes away just so much power for good, then the foreign houses that are taking trade from cities and towns will receive less patronage.

FOR THE HOME MERCHANT.

Follow the Tactics of the Catalogue Houses.

Much has been written about the subtle influence of the big four pound catalogues sent broadcast over the land by the houses located in the big cities which, strange to say, refuse to sell goods to the residents of the cities in which they are located.

There is no mysterious element in these bulky paper books, writes D. M. Carr. From cover to cover they are filled with pictures and with prices and descriptions of goods. The power of printer's ink is the only magnet, and this magnet can be used by merchants everywhere. The publishers of these great catalogues do business running well up toward the fifty millions yearly. All their success has been in the ink they use and the way they use it.

Because these concerns receive patronage that should go to the home merchant it is the home merchant's fault, Mr. Carr argues. The home merchant neglects to do just what the houses which publish the big catalogues do. He may not have the money to get out such a great list, neither the means of carrying great stocks of goods. Yet he possesses all the means necessary to gain the trade that goes to these great concerns. He can buy goods just as low, has less expense, and, while the big catalogue goes to a customer only once in a year or two, through the medium of the local newspaper the merchant can go to all the people of the community once a week and at the lowest expense.

Work For Live Improvement Society.

In small centers of population where none but the most general laws govern it is necessary to form an improvement society to look after the health and well being of the people as a whole, says the Los Angeles Times. The laws of hygiene must be observed. Both sewers and surface drainage should be provided by the people as a whole, and where no city government exists this is a splendid work for a live society for civic betterment.

RACE PROBLEM IS DISCUSSED AT PALMETTO CLUB MEETING

REV. J. A. STAGG DELIVERS INTERESTING ADDRESS TO MEMBERS AT THE MEETING THURSDAY AFTERNOON.

The philanthropic day program, in charge of Mrs. C. H. Abbott, chairman of this department of the Palmetto club, furnished subject matter of more than usual interest to the members and visitors in attendance at the meeting Thursday afternoon.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Mitchell, songs, "The Search," "Night Songs," "Sunset and Dawn," by Miss Shelly, Miss Atwood, accompanist, was received with evident enjoyment. Mrs. Abbott was then invited to the chair, and made a very comprehensive and interesting report of her branch of the work. She explained that the Educational and Industrial association, commonly known as the philanthropic department of the palmetto club, is helping in the education of the negro children of Daytona in the kindergarten. These schools are in charge of two trained colored teachers, and the Christmas shower, which is an annual offering, enables the Christmas tree committee to provide gifts for every member of the schools. Reports from the two colored principals of the schools were read, in conclusion.

Mrs. Abbott then introduced the speaker of the afternoon, Rev. J. A. Stagg, to whom she referred as one who knew both sides of the race problem, the subject he was to discuss. This generous endorsement the speaker humorously disclaimed, saying he doubted if any man or woman had such knowledge, however, born in Virginia, educated in the north, trained in the west and years of work in the south had in a measure broadened his views on this much discussed question. As a speaker Mr. Stagg is magnetic, as well as scholarly and logical, and his address, the somber color of which was occasionally lightened by a well told story, seemed, all too short to his listeners, though all may not have accepted his premises.

Briefly outlined, Mr. Stagg's address was an appeal to the stronger for the weaker race. As he sees it, the two great foes of the negro in the United States are emigration and disease. The negro can not cope with skilled labor which is being introduced into this country from across the Atlantic and Pacific. Physically he cannot resist the white plague, consumption and kindred diseases. His future hope is to adopt race ideals of the Arian race, to found a state and build a country under the equator, where no white child can be born, and where, for this reason the encroachment of the Arian race must cease.

The next number on the program was a second group of songs by Miss Shelly, accompanied by Miss Atwood, "Evening," "A Song Somewhere," and "Goodnight," which were beautifully rendered.

The president then had a few words to say concerning the shower and the Christmas seals, and in conclusion, in her gracious way, wished the members a merry Christmas and a happy New Year.

The sum realized from the shower was $25, which, taken with the generous contribution of gifts, caused much rejoicing among the members and committee of the philanthropic department.

A social hour followed during which the club enjoyed a reunion over "the cup which cheers but never inebriates."

Mrs. Goddard and Mrs. O'Neill were the hostesses of the afternoon.

The philanthropic department held its annual meeting and election of officers Wednesday morning at 10:30 o'clock. Mrs. Abbott was re-elected president, Miss Lillian Thompson, vice president, Miss Goodall, treasurer, and Mrs. O'Neill, secretary.

CAMP SHOWER IS GIVEN HONOR OF MRS. ABBOTT

A camp shower in honor of Mrs. C. H. Abbott, given Tuesday afternoon from 2:30 to 5 o'clock by Mrs. C. S. Clark, at the Reed cottage, Daytona Beach, was a most delightful affair in every particular.

Mrs. Abbott left this afternoon for her homestead at Merritts Island, and the shower was a generous outfit for camp life. A large basket was placed on the front porch for the reception of gifts as guests passed into the reception. After the reception room was well filled with friends the basket was brought in and placed in the center of the room and she was invited by her hostess to a seat on the floor beside it and asked to open the numerous packages in the presence of the company. Helping herself to a cushion for a seat, Mrs. Abbott proceeded to obey instructions. An inspection of the gifts, which followed, was greatly enjoyed by the company. This was followed by a trip on the Funville & Frolicton Featherbrain railway, an amusing guessing game. Other amusing and entertaining devices followed. Then came the refreshments, suitable to the occasion, salads, coffee and biscuits. Between 50 and 60 guests, including friends on both sides of the Halifax, were present and entered with enthusiasm into the spirit of the entertainment.

Among the recent arrivals in Daytona are Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Morrill and daughter, Miss Minnie, of Lincoln, Nebraska, who have rented for the season the Oscar Michael home at 231 South Palmetto avenue. Mr. Morrill is one of the prominent men in the Antelope state, having served for 12 years as president of the board of regents of the Nebraska state university. He is also prominent in republican councils of the state and is a former republican national committeeman. Mr. Morrill is not a stranger in Florida, having been coming to this state in the winter seasons for the past eight years, but this is his first stay in Daytona and he freely admits that in previous visits to the state he has missed the prettiest and most delightful winter resort.

ROSSINI FAMOUS AS A WIT

Some of the Whimsicalities With Which the Great Composer Made Life Jollier.

Rossini's witticisms bubbled forth at all times and under all circumstances, says Musical Opinion. On one occasion a gentleman called upon him to enlist his aid in procuring for him an engagement at the opera. He was a drummer and had taken the precaution to bring his instrument. Rossini said he would hear him "play," and it was agreed that he should show off in the overture to "Semiramide."

Now, the very first bar of the overture contained a tremolo for the drum, and when this had been performed the player remarked, "Now I have a rest of 78 bars—these, of course, I will skip." This was too good a chance to be lost. "O, no," said the composer, "by all means count the 78 bars; I particularly want to hear those." Rossini's whimsicality extended even to his birthday. Having been born on February 29, in leap year, he had, of course, a birthday once in four years, and when he was seventy-two he facetiously invited his friends to celebrate his eighteenth birthday.

The late Sir Arthur Sullivan made his acquaintance in Paris. One morning, when Sullivan called to see him, he found him trying over a small piece of music. "What is that?" asked Sullivan. "It's my dog's birthday," replied, very seriously, "and I write a little piece for him every year."

When Rossini was once rehearsing one of his operas in a small theater in Italy he noticed that the horn was out of tune. "Who is that playing the horn in such an unholy way?" he demanded. "It is I," said a tremulous voice. "Ah, it is you, is it? Well, so right home." It was his own father!

Freak Potato.

A freak potato was dug up lately in a Belfast garden. The potato, in the course of its growth had forced its way right through the center of a beef shank bone. It had grown to an enormous size too, and was firmly attached to the bone, bulging out both above and below it.

THIS is the story of a liar whose lies caused the death of many innocent people and convulsed a whole kingdom. He was a shriveled, oily fellow, Titus Oates by name. Oates was the son of an English weaver. He began life as a Baptist clergyman, was driven out of his church for perjury and became a chaplain in the British navy. He was dismissed from this service for gross misconduct and went to study for the priesthood in a Jesuit college. Here he was found to be vicious, hypocritical and worthless, and was expelled in disgrace. Thus in 1678, at the age of fifty-nine, he was cast upon the world to pick up a living by his wits. Already he had been branded as a blackguard, but now his real career of deadly mischief was beginning.

Hating the Jesuits for their just condemnation of him, he went to Charles II., king of England, and invented a story of a Jesuit plot to murder the king and to start a general massacre. His tale was an absolute lie from first to last, and it was so awkwardly devised that the king in a few careless questions exposed it as not only false but utterly absurd. Oates was not discouraged. Failing to convince Charles of the falsehood, he went before a magistrate named Godfrey and publicly took oath that his charges were true. The government and the people at large seemed to forget that Oates had already been convicted of perjury and that his whole life was that of a man whose word was not to be credited. Panic struck statesmen and populace alike. They believed their king's life was really threatened. No proofs to the contrary nor appeals to their sanity could check this belief. The nation was made with excitement. Charles alone—the supposed plot's intended victim—remained calm and laughed at the entire affair as a hoax.

Nearly 2,000 innocent persons were arrested on Oates' false testimony as members of the conspiracy. Brave, honest, loyal Englishmen were tried and unjustly put to death on the same ridiculous charge. A reign of terror set in. No one's life seemed safe when a convicted perjurer could swear it away. Plain citizens and high nobles alike swelled the ranks of victims. Oates received a large income from the government and had a suite of rooms in the palace. Then, as the turmoil began to die down, Oates tried to revive it, by the most atrocious charge of all. He accused the queen—a meek, pious, gentle little woman whom her husband had neglected and ill-treated—of conspiring to poison King Charles. The public once more howled with fury. Parliament tried to force the queen to leave court. Charles had the decency to put a stop to this tale by declaring his wife innocent.

Later, when Charles II. died and his brother, James II., came to the throne, Oates was convicted of perjury. A strange sentence was passed upon him. For state reasons it was deemed best not to execute this "conspiracy inventor" who had caused so many better men to die. Instead, it was decided to put him to death in another fashion. He was sentenced to pay a heavy fine, then to be clapped into the pillory (a rude wooden contrivance in which a captive's head and hands were fastened, while he was kept standing for hours exposed to public view), to receive a whipping, and then to be imprisoned for life, being taken from his cell five times a year to be pilloried again. As Oates was sixty-five years old, it was thought the terrific beating would kill him.

But he was tough. He received 1,700 lashes of the whip and was so mangled that he had to be dragged back to prison on a sledge. In spite of this treatment he recovered.

Three years later, in 1688, when James II. was deposed and William of Orange became king of England, one of William's earliest acts was to pardon Oates and to give him a royal pension of $1,500 a year.

It is hard to understand how any monarch, in the light of Oates' crimes, could have issued such pardon and pension. Yet the fact remains. The old perjurer lived in comfort (vainly trying to stir up new plots now and then) for the next 17 years, dying in 1705 at the age of eighty-six.

Best Guesser.

A Scottish boy of six years, who attended a school at which prizes were given on the slightest sort of provocation, the day proudly exhibited a reward of merit earned in the realm of natural history.

"Teacher asked us how many legs a horse had, and I said five!" the lad triumphantly exclaimed.

"Five!" rang the surprised adult chorus. "But, of course, you were wrong?"

"Of course," was the proud assertion. "But all the other boys said six."

SHE GOT A HUSBAND

But Not In the Regular Way

By F. A. MITCHEL

"My dear Margaret," wrote Miss Frances Pomeroy to her friend, Miss Jacqueline Seaton. "I have had the time of my life. It has been unique. I have not only spent chill November in a warm climate, but have done so masquerading. Do you remember when we were sophomores how Bess Wharton and I dressed ourselves as boys, went out on to the campus, kicked football and were ordered off by the college authorities? And perhaps you will remember what a good looking boy I made—to say nothing of Bess.

"Well, we were caught, as you know, going into your room, and the whole thing came out. The faculty notified us that our presence was no longer required at the university and we were directed to repair to our homes. I expected to meet with a very cold reception there, and so I did at first, but when I told the whole story to papa he laughed and said, 'I didn't believe when you went to college that you would be have yourself with sufficient circumspection to get through, and I'm not disappointed.' Dear old papa! I never could do anything that would seem terrible in his eyes, and even if I did I always knew how to get round him so that it shouldn't count against me.

"It was two years ago that I took leave, prematurely, of my alma mater. I dare say that the day will come when I shall regret my folly. I'm nineteen years old, and if I hadn't been expelled from college I would now be a dignified senior. I'm going to tell you a story that puts that sophomore episode in the shade. Compared with what I've been doing, the first was a mere bagatelle.

"Last spring I was very much run down in health. Papa and mamma worried about me just as if I had been good and took me out on a farm, hoping I would get better. But I didn't. I think I was pining for something out of the general run, don't you know; a bit of spice in my diet. At any rate, such an opportunity occurred, and this is how it came.

"Mother has an old friend she hadn't seen for years, a Mrs. Varney. The Varneys are rich and have both a summer and a winter home. Their winter home is in the center of an orange grove in Florida. After we got home in September mamma wrote Mrs. Varney, telling her that she was worried about my health and said she feared I would need to go south for the winter, but you know our income is small, and traveling and putting up at hotels are expensive, and I knew well enough that we couldn't afford to make such a trip, for mamma wouldn't take me without papa, and for the three of us the outlay would be something awful.

"Mamma, in reply to her letter, received an invitation for me to visit the Varneys on their orange plantation. I had been referred to as Frank, and when I read Mrs. Varney's letter I saw at once that she thought I was a boy. 'My son Albert, who has charge of the plantation,' she wrote, 'every morning rides over it and is constantly in the open air attending to the needs of the trees, the packing of the oranges or some such matter. Your son can go with him, and I don't doubt that within a few weeks he will show considerable improvement.'

"Well, now, just think of riding about with a young man that way. Then the idea got into my head what a lark it would be to go riding around with him, not as a girl, but as the boy he thought me! I couldn't get it out. It stuck and simmered and simmered and stuck until I made up my mind I was going to do that very thing.

"I answered Mrs. Varney's invitation myself and didn't say a word about her mistake or that I was a girl, accepting her invitation and telling her when I expected to arrive. The first preparation I made was to have a lot of men's clothes sent home to try on and kept what fitted me, sending the rest back. What an easy time the men have buying their clothes! Why, to buy as much women's things as I bought men's in half an hour would require from one to two months and no end of trouble.

"Before I started mother said: 'Now, Frank, if you behave yourself and drop your pranks you may catch the young man who manages that plantation. If you do your future will be provided for.'

"My goodness gracious, right on top of this advice I was about to put in practice the worst prank I had ever played.

"'Humph!' grunted papa. 'Frank will never get a husband in the regular way. When she suaves one it will be with a trap never used by woman before.'

"This set me up a bit, though I confess I felt mighty squeamish about what I was going to do. I sent my men's clothes, including a riding suit, by express to one of the big hotels near the Varney plantation and, with many warnings from mamma ringing in my ears, started on my way for Florida. When I got there I had an awful time getting out of the hotel that I had entered as a woman in man's clothes. I escaped at night in an ulster overcoat that covered me from head to foot. It was 11 o'clock when I was driven up to the Varney plantation, and all the family had gone to bed except Bert Varney, who received me very cordially. He offered me some refreshment before going to bed, setting out a bottle of whiskey. I swallowed some of it, though I didn't like it, and smoked a cigarette with him, which didn't trouble me so much. I took quite a fancy to him from the start and anticipated pleasantly my approaching rides with him over the plantation. But I gasped for breath every time I thought about meeting his mother in the morning. As to his sisters, thank heaven he had none.

"Mrs. Varney is just too lovely for anything. When I had finally screwed up my courage to go down to breakfast her son had finished his meal and had gone out. So I was received by her alone. I breakfasted principally on fruit, Mrs. Varney chatting with me the while.

"'Now, my dear boy,' she said, 'you must make yourself entirely at home. Go to bed and rise when you like, eat and drink what you want, but I would advise you to keep out of doors as much as possible. Bert asked me to say to you that he will start to ride over the plantation at 10 o'clock this morning, and if you wish to join him I am to order a horse for you. How did you leave your dear mother? You're looking better than I expected to find you—a little pale, but when you have spent a month in the open air with Bert you'll have more color in your cheeks.'

"I should think so. Indeed, I felt the color coming into my cheeks every time I looked at my trousers. I decided to ride with Bert that very morning and in half an hour went out on to the veranda, booted and spurred. I had ridden in divided skirts, which was a fine preparation for riding in breeches. Bert, who had already been out on horseback, rode up, and when I had mounted we started on the daily rounds.

"I studied Bert's countenance in an effort to make out how far successful I was in personating a man. He didn't give me the slightest evidence that there was anything unusual in me, treating me as a man would naturally treat another man several years younger than himself. He was very kind and attentive, telling me all about the orange culture, the dangers incurred and the pleasure experienced after passing a season of them in gathering an abundant crop. I reined in several times during the morning under a tree to pluck ripe fruit. How much more delicious is an orange eaten just off the tree than one picked green and sent north, ripening on the way.

"It would require several hundred pages of this letter paper—especially written in my scrawly hand—to give you an account of my experience with Bert Varney. I thought him a very pure man, for I noticed that he said not a word to me but what he might have spoken to a girl companion. I came at once to have so great a reverence—admiration—for him partly on this account that I took pains to repress the boyish nature to which I was born, and up to a few days before I was expecting to leave for home departed myself in an exemplary manner.

"You know that riding horseback is my hobby, and if I had been a man I would have long ago broken my neck at a fence or a ditch. There were no fences at the plantation except some inclosing orange groves, but the ditches were a constant temptation to me. I was afraid that if I should get a fall in taking one of them it might lead to betraying my sex. After resisting many temptations I yielded one morning and, making a run for a ditch, attempted to put my horse over it. I felt the bottom of the universe dropping out beneath me, a thud, and I knew nothing more till I saw Bert bending over me. My coat and vest were both open, and my shirt and underclothes had been badly torn. I saw in a moment that my secret was out. Though I was badly stunned, I felt the hot blood rushing into my cheeks.

"Now, wasn't this just too protoking for anything? I was lying on the ground, but gathered strength to sit up and rearrange my clothing, though about all I could do was to button my coat. Then I clapped both hands to my burning cheeks and would have kept them there had Bert not gently pulled them away.

"Don't trouble yourself. I've known it ever since the evening you came to us."

"He said no more at the time; he was too much concerned about my injury. I made an effort to rise, but it was not very successful. However, with Bert's assistance I got on to my feet. I took no thought as to bruises or broken bones or internal injuries. I was horrified at my secret being out and the manner of its exposure. My head was hung while my companion was trying to get some of the dirt off my clothes, at the same time looking at me with anxiety.

"Does your mother know—It? I managed to get out with difficulty.

"No."

"I was getting faint again, and he supported me in his arms.

"I suppose this ends all the pleasant—friendship."

"Yes, it does, on my part," and he kissed me.

"It is astonishing how far that kiss tended to restore me.

"How I remained a few days longer at the plantation, a boy to every one except Bert; how I got home, how I continued to keep my secret from mamma and told it to papa, I will tell you when we meet. Bert and I are engaged, but are not to be married till spring. Papa says he knew I would never get a husband in the regular way. But—if I ever have a daughter and she is inclined to play such pranks as I have played I'll shut her up in the top of a tower."

A FIGHT FOR A WIFE

By M. QUAD

Copyright, 1912, by Associated Literary Press

"I dunno much about romance, as they call it, but I reckon I shaved it mighty close when I got my wife. One day, when I was a young feller of twenty-two, I seen a gal over on t'other side of the mountains that jest filled the bill. I made up to her and was talkin' 'bout bars and wildcats and sich when her mother steps in and sez: 'Stranger, melbe yo' are wantin' to take my gal away fur a wife?'

"'I'm reckonin' to consider that I would,' I replies.

"'Then I'll blow the horn fur her pop to cum over the woods and tell yo' what is what.'

"She blowed and blowed, and bimeby the old man appeared. He was a powerful man, and he didn't look good natured. His name was Rabbitt, and arter lookin' me over he sez:

"'Stranger, it's got to be a mighty good man who takes my darter Sue away fur his wife. How fur kin anybody h'ar yo' holler?'

"'Two miles, if the wind is right,' sez I.

"'And about yo' jumpin?'

"'It's clus to eight feet when I don't slip.'

"'Hev yo' ever dun any climbin?'

"'I hev. I've climbed the tallest tree in sight of these yere Cumberland mountains.'

"'And the number of bars and wildcats what yo've slain? he goes on, seemin' to want to pick a furse with me.

"'They'd purty nigh fill yo' cabin,' sez I, feelin' a leetle riled at the way he spoke.

"'Well,' sez he, arter stoppin' to consider a bit, 'nobody kin take that gal away jest becase he kin boot or climb or kill varmints. He's got to lay me on my back in a fa'r font. I'll gin yo' a week to think it over. If yo' want the gal yo' must cum back and tackle me, and I'm tellin' yo' I'm a bad critter as long as I've got one foot on the airth.'

"I went away feelin' sort o' cast down, but the mo' I thought of it the mo' I wanted the gal Sue fur my wife. That night I made up my mind that I'd try fur her, and next day I went back to the cabin. Her pop was thar and walkin' around and feelin' powerful peart.

"Thar was a c'lar space in the front of his cabin," said the old man, "and when the gal and her mother had cum outdoors we threw off our coats and begun bizness. I was accounted a powerful hand on a wrassle, but that man was also a powerful critter, and I reckoned I'd hev to hev help from the Lawd to gain the victory. It was 10 o'clock in the mawnin' when we begun, and the clock was jest strikin' 1 when I flopped him on his back. That spot on the ground looked as if fo'ty haws had bin rootin' it up fur a week, and he was so beat out he could hardly speak. Mo' than twenty times in them three hours that critter had me almost dun fur, but I'd send up a sort of prayer and git a new hold, and at last I fetched him. When he was able to talk he riz up and took my hand and sez:

"'Stranger, it was a far wrassle, and I've been flopped. I wouldn't a believed yo' could hev dun it, but yo' did, and I'm sayin' yo' ar a purty good man. Howsumever, it ain't over yet. Yo've got to lick me to git Sue, and I know yo' kin never do it. We'll take three days to rest up, and then yo' kin cum back and tackle me.'

"'And did you go?'

"'I asked as the old man made a long pause.

"'Fur snah,' he replied. 'I was mighty sore and lame, but I knowed he would be as bad off. Besides, that gal Sue had hooted fur me when I flopped her pop, and I knowed by that she was with me and would hope fur me to come out on top. In three days I went back to hev it out. The critter was a lookin' fur me and glad to see me.

"'How's it to be? sez I.

"'A fa'r font,' sez he, 'no throwin' rocks nor hittin' with clubs. Whoop! Cock-a-doodle-do!'

"'Waal, we went at it. Sue and her maw was out thar as befo', and the gal gin me a smile as I went in. It was a rough and tumble font. I jest knowed I'd got to do my level best or go under, and I lost no chances. That font lasted mighty nigh two hours, and two or three times I was almost on the pint of lettin' go. Bimeby, howsumever, I seen that Rabbitt was gettin' tired out, and the gal clapped her hands and sicked me on. Ten minits arter that I had him whopped. Thar wasn't no mistake about it, becase he riz up and sez to me:

"'Zeb White, I'm a whopped man, and that gal is yo's. I didn't believe thar was a critter on these mountains as could make me hoot, but yo' dun it. And now when do yo' want the gal?'

"'Right now, I reckon,' sez I.

"'Ain't it purty sudden?'

"'Not so very, bein' as she ready to go.'

"'Then, maw, bring out the broom, stick and let 'em jump over it, and if they want to be married by a preacher they kin do it sum other time.'

"'And you took the girl home?'

"'Sartinly,' replied Zeb. 'Yes, sah, took her right home with me, with her feather bed on my back, and she's out thar in the kitchen makin' mince pies this minit. As I was sayin', these yere marriages of today don't amount to shucks. When yo' luv a gal and hev to lick her ole pop to git her then yo' know she's wuth the gittin'!'

INTERESTING RIDES AND DRIVES POINTS WORTH VISITING

OCEAN BEACH—excellent motor north for 10 miles and south 10 miles to Mosquito Inlet and the Government Lighthouse at Ponce Park. The beach is the most magnificent in the world.

BEED, KNOX & BEED ORANGE GROVE—18 miles, via Ormond, is one of the largest groves in Volusia county and is well worth seeing; can be reached by motor over fairly good road; can also be reached by boat.

NUMBER NINE ORANGE GROVE—a large grove, passed on the way to the Beed, Knox & Beed grove, is 12 miles from Daytona.

NEW SMYRNA—16 miles from Daytona, over an excellent hard surface road; this drive is said to be the prettiest in the state. At New Smyrna are the ruins of an ancient fort and other historical spots, left by the colony of Andrew Turnbull.

OLD SPANISH MISSION—2 miles west of New Smyrna, reached by motor over good road. This mission is without authentic history but by many it is contended that this is the church built by Columbus on his second voyage to America. The altar is still extant, but at a later date the building was used as a sugar mill.

SPANISH SUGAR MILL—2 miles west of Port Orange and about 8 miles from Daytona; the machinery is still in a good state of preservation, although the mill is presumed to have been built and operated by the early Spanish settlers.

GOVERNMENT LIGHTHOUSE—at Ponce Park, 12 miles from Daytona, is reached by boat or by motor on the ocean beach.

MAMMOTH TREE—4 miles from Daytona; an abnormally large tree, reached by motor over hard surfaced road.

DELAND—25 miles from Daytona; the county seat of Volusia county and seat of John B. Stetson university; a very picturesque city, reached by motor over hard surfaced road.

TOMOKA RIVER—The scenic stream of Florida; reached by excursion boats which leave Daytona daily and run to the navigable head of the stream, 26 miles from the city. Generally a number of alligators may be seen in their native haunts. This is a trip no tourist should miss.

DELEON SPRINGS, 28 miles from Daytona; mammoth spring that throws out thousands of gallons of water a minute; a delightful bathing pool, and picturesque scenery. Spring is situated in an old plantation. Reached by motor over good road; a nice trip for a picnic party.

OAK HILL—hamlet, 10 miles south of New Smyrna; several orange groves in the locality; reached by motor over hard surfaced road.

ORMOND—six miles from Daytona; here is located the Ormond hotel and a pretty town; nearby are the ruins of Spanish sugar mill's.

TURTLE MOUND—26 miles south of Daytona; reached by boat; a mammoth mound of oyster shells supposed to have been left by a prehistoric race of people. Pottery and other antiquities have been discovered in excavating the shell.

PORT ORANGE—an attractive town 6 miles south of Daytona, can be reached by motor over hard surfaced road; on the trip one-way may be made by the road and crossing the Halifax river on the Port Orange bridge, the return can be made on the ocean beach.

CLARENDON GOLF LINKS—2 miles from Daytona and immediately north of the Hotel Clarendon at Seabreeze; the links are now in good condition. The Hotel Clarendon bears the distinction of being the only fireproof winter tourist hotel in the world.

GENERALLY, you may motor in any direction from Daytona and find places and objects of interest where your driver can explain to you there are many by-roads through the sylvan vegetation that a visitor will greatly enjoy.

His Last Word.

Here is one case where the husband
and the last word had been scored a point. It was during a little spat,
his wife had been talking for ten minutes without a letup and the end came
only when she asserted vehemently,
"There, I hope I've made myself
plain!" "Made yourself plain, my
dear!" he replied "Why, bless your heart, I didn't know you had anything to do with it. I thought you were born that way."

Effect of Weather.
The effect of the weather upon crystallization is certain. When it is dry the crystals are large and well defined; when it rains or there is a damp wind the salt crystallizes in fine grains; or again, rain will stop the crystallization entirely or retard it for many days. Even after crystallization has taken place in lumps as large as hazelnuts a damp wind or a rain will reduce the whole mass to a fine granular state.

Mixing Paint.
Is there anything more interesting in life than mixing a paint putting in black to darken it, yellow to lighten it, vermilion to make it bright, and green to see what happens?—Adams.

Europe's Vast Armed Force.
It would take nine and a half days for the armies of Europe to pass a given point, marching five abreast, 15 inches apart, at an eight-mile gait.

Watch the Trifles.
Grasp the trifling affairs of ordinary daily life if you want to do good—don't wait for any special opportunity.

PEIGNOIR AS CHURCH GOWN

Beatrice Grimshaw's South Sea Island Laundress Couldn't Resist Temptation of the Garment.

It would be hard to find a spot where the subject of dress does not sway the feminine mind. To the world at large its observance causes either a great deal of pleasure or a good store of amusement. In the category of amusement may be placed the proceedings of the dusky belles described by Beatrice Grimshaw in her book, "In the Strange South Seas."

A lace-trimmed garment of mine, usually worn at night under the shelter of sheets and quilts, went to a Sunday morning church as a best dress in full daylight, on the person of the laundress entrusted with my wash. The funny side was so conspicuous that she never got the reproach she deserved.

A certain flower toque, made of poppies—a bloom unknown in the Pacific—first drove the women of the island half-distracted with excitement, then, led 36 native ladies to appear simultaneously at a dance wearing excellent copies of my Paris model, done in double scarlet hibiscus from the bush.

A wedding, from which, unfortunately, I was absent, furnished the finest display of native dress that took place that year. The bride wore 14 silk dresses, not all at once, but one after another, changing her dress again and again during the reception, until the white spectators were fairly giddy—Youth's Companion.

MAKING WORLD VERY SMALL

Moving Pictures Give Us the Familiarity With the Globe That Breeds Contempt.

"There is one thing I object to about moving pictures," said a Cleveland man who is fond of the films, "and that is the fact that they are gradually pinching up the world until the old ball doesn't look much bigger than Mrs. Bob Cratchit's plum pudding. When a man can see London cut in India, and pearl diving off Ceylon, and lion shooting in mid-Africa, and herding in Australia, and mining in Nevada and kite-flying in China, to say nothing of close familiarity with all the great cities of the globe; he begins to feel considerable contempt for the little old planet he calls home.

"And then he is afflicted with another sort of familiarity, a familiarity that attacks the ordinances and hedges that are built up around the chosen great ones of earth. Yes, as I sit in the darkened hall, prying into the hidden corners of the earth and hobnobbing with the great, the terrestrial ball grows smaller and smaller.

"It's a pity, isn't it?"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The War Game.

War is an extremely simple game. A number of armed men are sick upon another body of armed men, and they engage in the highly exciting and diverting sport of maiming and slaying one another. The contestant which can slaughter the most combatants and starve the most non-combatants is adjudged the winner. Simple, is it not?
